

International Conference “Crises, Economy and Punishment: The Influence of the Great Recession on crime and penalty”

PROGRAMME

Thursday, 15 September

09:30: Welcoming words. José M. Busto-Lago, Dean of the Law School, University of A Corunna, and Patricia Faraldo-Cabana, University of A Corunna, Chair of the organising committee.

09:45: General Introduction. José A. Brandariz-García, University of A Corunna, Spain, Russell Hogg, Queensland University of Technology, Australia, and Máximo Sozzo, National University of the Litoral, Argentina (academic chairs).

10:00: Plenary session: “The Prison and the Factory Revisited: Penalty and the Critique of Political Economy”, Dario Melossi, University of Bologna, Italy.

11:00: Parallel sessions:

Panel session 1: Crises and Penalty I

- “Crime and punishment in Brazil: Is restorative justice a suitable alternative to prison in the context of the (late) economic crisis?”, Daniel Achutti and Raffaella Pallamolla, UniLasalle, Brazil
- “While the crisis had not yet arrived: mass incarceration in times of social inclusion in the Brazilian democracy”, David S. Fonseca, Queensland University of Technology, Australia
- “Notes about contemporary politics and penalty in Brazil: re-thinking punitive turn and neoliberalism critical establishment”, Paulo Mendes, National University of the Litoral, Argentina
- “Economic crisis, politics, and punishment: impacts and influences in the Brazilian case”, Bruno Rotta-Almeida, Federal University of Pelotas, Brazil

Panel session 2: Political violence, torture and penal policies

- “The releasement of Arnaldo Otegi as a vanishing point for the analysis of the past and present exceptionalism trends in terrorism crime policies in Spain”, David Castro-Liñares, University of A Corunna, Spain
- “Contours, resistances and limits of the so-called 'Global War on Terrorism': The (controversial) persistence of the enemy within the European Union”, Borxa Colmenero-Ferreiro, University of A Corunna, Spain
- “Crisis and Neoliberal Hegemony in the European Union: Consequences in Criminal Law”, Jorge Correcher Mira, University of València, Spain
- “To say the impossible, to imagine the unimaginable: the punitive experience of torture”, Ignacio Mendiola, University of Basque Country, Spain

12:00: Discussion

12:30: Plenary session: “Punishment and economic and social crises. Puzzling relations?”, Máximo Sozzo, National University of the Litoral, Argentina.

15:30: Parallel sessions:

Panel session 3: Crises and Penalty II

- “Six Years On: Reflections on the decline in the Spanish prison population and the post-crisis criminal justice system”, José A. Brandariz-García, University of A Corunna, Spain
- “Tantri was right: another approach to understand imprisonment rate decrease in the Netherlands”, David Soto-Díaz, University of A Corunna, Spain
- “Economic crisis and reduction of the prison population: the Italian case”, Giovanni Torrente, University of Turin, Italy
- “Studying the penal system in times of crises: conceptual, empirical and political challenges”, Ignacio González-Sánchez, University of Girona, Spain

Panel session 4: Policies of migration control

- “Foreigners in Italy between the labour market and prison”, Stefania Crocitti, University of Bologna, Italy
- “Who has been deported from Spain during the economic crisis? Some answers from a feminist and post-colonial perspective”, Cristina Fernández-Bessa, University of Barcelona, Spain
- “Detention Centers for Foreigners: Punishing Undocumented Migrants by the Deprivation of Liberty in the Schengen Area”, Nerea Galdós-Pozo, University of A Corunna, Spain
- “The deportation of foreigners in the Chilean criminal justice system: A technique of ‘actuarial justice’?”, Roberto A. Dufraix-Tapia, Arturo Prat University, Chile

16:30: Discussion

17:00: Coffee Break

17:30: Plenary session: “The Financialization of Society and the Monetization of Justice: Crime, Punishment and the Global Financial Crisis”, Russell Hogg, Queensland University of Technology, Australia.

18:30: Parallel sessions:

Panel session 5: Penological Issues: Community, Control and Penalty

- “Neo-liberalism and changes in the role of European alternatives to imprisonment”, Daniela Ronco and Michelle Miravalle, University of Turin, Italy
- “The privatisation of social control in the era of electronic monitoring technologies”, Perla Arianna Allegri, University of Turin, Italy
- “Carceral Expansion and Privatization under Austerity: Towards a Political Economy of the New Probation Structures in England and Wales”, Luca Follis, University of Lancaster, United Kingdom
- “Social exclusion, digital technology and ‘smartpowers’”, Javier Cigüela, Pompeu Fabra University, Spain

Panel session 6: Penological Issues: Reflections on the Prison System

- “Naked life and resistance: breaking the wall of denial in post-securitarian prisons”, Vincenzo Scalia, University of Winchester, United Kingdom

- “From emergency to pragmatism? Criminal policy and prison administration in contemporary Italy”, Alvisè Sbraccia, University of Bologna, Italy
- “State Violence and Economic Crises in Men and Women’s Prison: Discourses in the Portuguese Press”, Luísa Saavedra, Eunice Seixas, Miguel Cameira and Ana Margarida Silva, University of Minho, Portugal
- “Brown v. Plata: The judiciary as agent for the prison reform”, Diego Rochow, University of Chile, Chile

19:30: Discussion

Friday, 16 September

10:00: “Do economic crises influence the use of fines? Revisiting Rusche and Kirchheimer’s Punishment and Social Structure”, Patricia Faraldo Cabana, University of A Corunna, Spain.

“Why the financial crisis led to a decrease of prison populations in Europe?”, Marcelo F. Aebi, University of Lausanne, Switzerland.

11:30: Parallel sessions:

Panel session 7: Neo-liberalism, Political Economy and Penalty I

- “Itinerary of the issue of security since neoliberalism return in Argentina”, Gabriela Seghezso and Nicolás Dallorso, University of Buenos Aires-CONICET, Argentina
- “Crisis and Economics of Crime and punishment in Argentina”, Diego Zysman-Quirós, University of Buenos Aires, Argentina
- “The reorganization of ‘repression’ during the Great Recession: the Antiterrorism Act and the Anti-picketing Protocol in today’s Argentina”, Juan Cruz Goñi, National University of Lanús, Argentina
- “Media and political discourse on juvenile crime in Brazil: culture, economy and punishment”, Marília de Nardin Budó, Faculdade Meridional, Brazil, and Riccardo Cappi, State University of Bahia/State University of Feira de Santana, Brazil

Panel session 8: Neo-liberalism, Political Economy and Penalty II

- “The limits of political economy in understanding criminalization”, António P. Dores, ISCTE-IUL, Portugal
- “From project exile to mass delivery of pain: How many of us are being abandoned?”, Daniel Jiménez-Franco, University of Zaragoza, Spain
- “The common-based economy and its punishment”, David Vila, University of Zaragoza, Spain

12:30: Discussion

13:00: Parallel sessions:

Panel session 9: Managerialism, Crime Prevention and Penalty

- “Towards an ‘Austere Prevention’? Impact of Austerity Policies on Crime Risk Management in the Field of Gender Violence in Spain”, David San Martín-Segura, University of La Rioja, Spain
- “Is a mirage the measurement of management in criminal policy? The Strategic planning, management control and the balance scorecard", Claudio González-Guarda, University of Malaga, Spain

- "Banal prevention of insecurity as a way of governance: A perspective from Madrid", Sergio García-García and Débora Ávila-Cantos, Complutense University of Madrid, Spain

Panel session 10: Political Economy and Penalty: Reflections on organised crime

- "The Yakuza and the reasons of its longevity", Martina Baradel, University of London, United Kingdom
- "Economic crisis and Organized Crime in Italy", Antonella Pasculli, University of Bari, Italy
- "The Business of Human Trafficking in Times of Economic Crisis: Implications for the Criminal Liability of Legal Persons", Silvia Rodríguez-López, University of A Corunna, Spain
- "The North-South shipment of toxic waste as a new phenomenon of criminality of the powerful", María A. Fuentes-Loureiro, University of A Corunna, Spain

14:00: Discussion

16:30: Parallel sessions:

Parallel session 11: Criminological Issues

- "Explaining the differences in the application of detention for juvenile offenders in Spain", Beatriz Cruz-Márquez, University of Cádiz, Spain
- "Institutional anomie and the Portuguese system of justice", José N. Cruz, University of Porto, Portugal
- "The unequal crime drop. Changes over time in the distribution of crime among individuals from different socioeconomic backgrounds", Felipe Estrada, University of Stockholm, Sweden

Parallel session 12: Corporate crime, corruption and penalty

- "Advantages and risks of self-regulation policies and corporate internal investigations", Ana M. Neira-Pena, University of A Corunna, Spain
- "Anticorruption discourses and neoliberalism", Manuel Maroto-Calatayud, University of Castilla-La Mancha, Spain

17:30: Discussion

18:00: Coffee Break

18:30: Plenary session: "Beyond the Punitive Turn: The Sources of Transformation in the Post-Rehabilitative Prison: European and American Perspectives. Part I: Europe", Elena Larrauri-Pijoan, Pompeu Fabra University, Spain.

"Beyond the Punitive Turn: The Sources of Transformation in the Post-Rehabilitative Prison: European and American Perspectives. Part II: US", Jonathan Simon, University of California-Berkeley, United States.

20:00: End of the Conference